

THE NEWS CONFIRMED.

Japan-China Peace Treaty Actually Exchanged on Wednesday.

NOT ENTIRELY SETTLED.

Consideration of Recommendations by Russia, France and Germany the Japanese Government Will Renounce the Permanent Possession of Liau Tung Peninsula—To Be Adjusted Hereafter.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—An official dispatch from Tokio, received at the Japanese legation yesterday afternoon, states that the ratifications of the treaty of peace between Japan and China were exchanged at Chifu on Wednesday. No change was made in the text of the treaty as originally concluded. Taking into account, however, the recommendations made by Russia, Germany and France, the Japanese government has agreed to renounce the permanent possession of the Liau Tung peninsula on condition that the arrangements regarding the terms and form of renunciation shall be reserved for adjustment between itself and the government of China.

This latter stipulation is construed to mean that Japan will not surrender the peninsula until the suitable indemnity has been paid, and that it may have been agreed between Japan and China that the possession of Port Arthur will be retained by the Japanese for a term of years extending beyond the date when the indemnity has been paid in full, thus assuring to Japan not alone the payment of the indemnity itself, but so sufficient time to safeguard herself against anything like a war of reprisal. It will be remembered that the treaty of peace itself provides that Wei Hai Wei shall be held until the first one hundred millions of the indemnity and the next two annual installments have been paid, that added guarantee of the possession of Port Arthur, even although temporary, the Japanese government would appear to have taken every possible precaution for the future.

The foregoing statement is official, being direct from Tokio by cable. The understanding is that it embodies the policy which Japan recently gave to the rest of Russia and all allied powers.

Condition of the Sick.
WASHINGTON, May 10.—Admiral May, who has been dangerously ill during the week at his residence in Vermont avenue, is not improving and yesterday was considered a trifle weaker. General Pleasanton, the former union army leader, is reported improving daily. General Cogswell, member of congress from Massachusetts, continues the road to recovery.

Admiral Meade to Retire in January.
WASHINGTON, May 10.—Admiral Meade has been requested to be relieved from command of the north Atlantic station on January 1, 1896. A request has been granted by Secretary Herbert. Admiral Meade has also been relieved from the duty of commanding the department that he intends to retire on June 1. This will also be granted. The choice for the admiral's successor will be between Admiral Porter, president of the lighthouse board, and Admiral Ramsey, who is chief of the bureau of navigation in the navy department.

Big Addition to Gold Reserve.
WASHINGTON, May 10.—The treasury reserve yesterday showed an increase over the day before of $3,448,289, making the total $96,039,868. No explanation is made at the treasury department beyond the statement that it is the deposit made by the New York syndicate.

GORDON GOES FREE.
Thompson Releases Him as an Object Lesson to Other Adulterers.

OSHSVILLE, May 10.—After the argument on the motion to dismiss the prisoner was completed in the Brown-Nelson murder case yesterday, and the judge could not hold the prisoner, and he would discharge him, as an object lesson to other adulterers.

Over was a crowd more demonstrative in its appreciation than was the throng in the police court when Thompson announced in a clear voice the verdict in the case. Cheers went up and hand after hand thrust out to the judge to show how his verdict was appreciated. It was evidently not a soul in the crowd who was not a friend of the man but was pleased with the verdict. When the judge had finished, and before the last word had fallen from his lips, the cheering began, which lasted fully 20 minutes. In vain the bailiff endeavored to restore order, and as no avail, and not until the throng had departed from the court was order restored, and even after the streets the cheering was going on.

The explanation the judge said that there was no evidence of guilt on Gordon's part, but that adulterers and adulteresses on the verge of an abyss of blood and death, and that their fate was what could be expected. Thus the last chapter to the most sensational tragedy in the history of Ken-

WHAT DURANT WILL DO.

Preparing to Make the Greatest Legal Battle in the History of the State.
SAN FRANCISCO, May 10.—An evening paper publishes a statement made by Theodore Durant to a friend, in which the man charged with the murder of the two girls in Emanuel church, said he would make the greatest legal battle in the history of the state and expressed his confidence regarding the outcome, predicting he would soon be a free man. In addition to the three attorneys already engaged for the defense, Durant has retained a well known criminal lawyer, George A. Knight.

"There are a good many things against me," Durant is quoted as saying, "but I fear Harry Partridge, who testified that he answered rollcall for me on April 8, more than any other witness. If Partridge persists in his statement he will hang me, but my attorneys will see him and perhaps he will change his mind. I did him many a good turn and often answered rollcall for him. I hope he won't continue against me."

The prosecution does not understand Durant's fear of Partridge, whose testimony is corroborated. April 8 was the last day Durant visited Minnie Williams in Alameda. Durant denies that he offered a ring to Oppenheimer, the pawnbroker, or anyone else. He says Oppenheimer is a tool of the police and has frequently given similar testimony in other cases. Durant is studying medical books and says upon his release he will continue his course until graduation.

FOR GOLD STANDARD.

Declaration of Sound Money Conference at Waco, Tex.
WACO, May 10.—The sound money conference composed of prominent Democrats from various sections of the state yesterday adopted resolutions declaring for gold as the standard of values and the largest coinage of silver consistent with safe finance. A central committee was appointed to perfect a permanent sound money organization with power to call a state convention if it was deemed necessary. Twenty-five delegates to the Memphis sound money meeting were chosen. A division in the Texas Democracy on the silver question is considered unavoidable.

Vigorous For Free Coinage.

TUSCOLA, Ills., May 10.—The Douglas county Democratic convention met yesterday. Only 40 of the 60 delegates were present and the majority were young men. The convention passed resolutions in favor of both money metals and the free coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1 and to be full legal tender for the payment of all private and public debts. The convention also favored kicking out of the party all Democrats not in harmony with the resolutions.

BLAND FOR PRESIDENT.

He Thinks He Would Not Be the Proper Man to Select.

DENVER, May 10.—Ex-Congressman Richard P. Bland of Missouri, who will lecture in Denver tomorrow night on "The twenty years' battle for silver and the fight yet to come," is resting quietly in this city, as he is still suffering from the effects of the grip. He said: "I have not heard of the efforts of my friends in St. Louis in the way of securing for me the nomination for president by the free silver Democrats in 1896. In fact I do not think I am the proper man for them to select. In my public life I have never made a fight to get personal advantage for myself. Especially is this true in the silver cause. I have fought for the cause itself. In doing so I have made too many enemies among my Democratic friends for me to be an available candidate."

FAVOR A PROTECTORATE.

Nicaraguans Want to Come Under the Wing of Uncle Sam.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, May 10.—Many prominent Nicaraguans, some of them being in high official positions, are openly favoring the establishment by the United States of a protectorate over Nicaragua, or the incorporation of the country into the great republic. They declare that peace and prosperity would then result, the wonderfully rich natural resources of Nicaragua would be developed, and a financial system be organized by which all of the country's just debts would be cancelled.

Flooded by a Cloud Burst.

JACKSON, Miss., May 10.—News reached here last night of a cloud burst late in the afternoon at Hernando, 50 miles from here on the Natchez, Jackson and Columbus railroad. It was stated that the town had been flooded, the water being waist deep. It is impossible to confirm the report on account of poor telegraph facilities.

The deceased starved to death, and from 180 pounds he fell to 90 pounds. Cameron smoked 50 and 75 cigarettes a day. He was chief clerk for the board of health and took an active part in politics.

MADE GOOD HIS THREAT

Delaware Legislature Adjourns Without Choosing Successor to Higgins.

J. EDWARD ADDICKS HAPPY.

He Declared at the Beginning of the Contest He Would Prevent the Election of a Republican If He Could Not Secure the Prize Himself—Contest Will Go to the United States Senate.

DOVER, Del., May 10.—J. Edward Addicks has made good his threat uttered at the beginning of the Delaware senatorial contest to prevent the election of a Republican senator from Delaware if he could not secure the prize for himself.

The general assembly of Delaware adjourned sine die at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon without choosing a successor to ex-Senator Higgins, although the Republicans claim that their leading candidate, Colonel Henry A. Dupont, was legally elected. The matter will probably be taken to the United States senate for a decision.

The 21st ballot since the deadlock began four months ago, and the last of the session, was taken a few minutes before 3 o'clock. It resulted: H. A. Dupont (Rep.), 15; J. Edward Addicks (Rep.), 4; Edward Ridgely (Dem.), 9; Tunnel (Dem.), 1. During the day the Democrats filibustered with the object of preventing balloting, and when the statehouse clock rang out the hour of 3, and sounded the deathknell of the legislative session of 1895, the clerk was in the midst of a rollcall on a dilatory motion made by a Democrat.

As soon as Governor Watson (Dem.) who, by reason of the fact that he is speaker of the senate before his elevation to the gubernatorial chair upon the death of Governor Marvil, presided over the joint session, announced the sine die adjournment, Speaker of the House McMullin (Rep.) arose and formally declared Henry A. Dupont elected United States senator. This action had been previously agreed upon by the Republican leaders. The Delaware legislature is composed of 21 representatives and nine senators, 16 being a majority on joint ballot.

Claim of the Republicans.
The Republicans claim that when Senator Watson, by virtue of his position as speaker of the senate, succeeded to the governorship upon the death of Governor Marvil one month ago, the number of senators was reduced to eight, and therefore there were only 29 on joint ballot and that 15 votes constituted a majority. On the other hand, the Democrats and Governor Watson claim that the law distinctly declares that the speaker of the senate shall become governor. Therefore, if Mr. Watson withdraws from the senate he ceases to be speaker of the senate and consequently loses the governorship.

The senatorial question is likely to occupy a large amount of public attention for months to come. Whether the governor has a right to appoint is a disputed question. If he has the appointment will only be until the next legislature, which meets in January, 1896, unless sooner called together by the governor. This latter contingency, however, is not probable.

Who Dupont Is.

Colonel Henry A. Dupont, who will make the contest for the senatorship, is a member of the famous Dupont family who have been manufacturers of powder and other explosives in Wilmington, this state, for over a century. He is a son of the late Colonel Henry Dupont, and was born at Brandywine Banks in 1836. He attended the University of Pennsylvania, and was subsequently appointed to the United States military academy at West Point, graduating in 1861. He entered the Fifth United States artillery and served through the civil war. Colonel Dupont has been a Republican ever since the organization of the party.

WITH HIS HEAD OFF.

Dead Body of J. E. Nelson Found in Ugly Creek.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., May 10.—For several months J. E. Nelson of Scioto county, O., has had a large storeboat anchored at Green Shoals on Guyan river, and during the large timber runs secured many thousands of dollars. A few days ago Nelson was missing and parties in that section supposed he was spending a vacation at his Ohio home. Yesterday his body was discovered at the mouth of Ugly creek, in Lincoln county, with his head severed from the body. There is great excitement in that section and if the guilty party can be found a lynching will result.

Investing in Cotton Mills.

BALTIMORE, May 10.—Especially prominent features in the development of the south, noted by The Manufacturers Record during the week, are the number of new cotton mills, showing that large amounts of money continue to be invested in these industries.

Ten Times Married.

LAFORTE, Ind., May 10.—Abraham Rimes has been granted a divorce from his 10th wife. The evidence disclosed the fact that Rimes' last wife was his first bride and that he had married eight other aspirants for his affections before he was again wedded to his first wife from whom he was legally separated shortly after marriage.

WON A MURDERER'S BODY.

Game of Cards at Which an Italian Put Himself Against $100.

DENVER, May 10.—Dr. Rucker, corner of Pocahontas, Ida., arrived in Denver yesterday. He is seeking possession of a body won in a game of cards. His antagonist is Dr. Cuono, the Italian consul. Carlo Perri committed suicide just before the day set for his execution for the murder of a man named McNamara. One day Perri offered to wager his corpse against $100 that he could defeat Dr. Rucker at cards. If he should win, the doctor should send the money to Perri's mother in southern Italy. In case he should lose, the doctor should have his body to dissect. They played and Dr. Rucker won. Perri signed a paper ordering that his body should forever remain in the possession of Dr. Rucker.

Dr. Cuono will make every effort to gain possession of what is left of the Italian murderer and bury the bones according to the rites of the church of Rome.

Trial of a Police Officer.

NEW YORK, May 10.—The trial of Police Inspector McLaughlin began yesterday. McLaughlin is under indictment for accepting bribes and extortion. Thomas E. Galligan, Jr., a building contractor, testified that several years ago, when McLaughlin was a police captain, the latter summoned him to the stationhouse and threatened him with arrest for obstructing the street. The two had quarreled violently and Galligan left the captain's room in anger. Outside Warman Burns suggested that the trouble need not go further, that $100 would settle it. He paid the money and there was no interference after that.

Trial of James Nutt.

ATLANTON, Kan., May 10.—The trial of James Nutt for attempting to kill Mrs. Jesse Payton and Leonard Colman, which commenced here yesterday, was adjourned until today, it being impossible to get 12 competent jurors out of the regular and special venues. The case is attracting great attention, because of Nutt's connection with the famous Dukes tragedy in Pennsylvania in 1883. Nutt was cleared in Pennsylvania on a plea of insanity and it is understood that the same plea will be made in the case now on trial.

Little Change in Miners' Strike.

PITTSBURG, May 10.—There is little change in the miners' strike situation. The mines that are running at the 60 cent rate are receiving new recruits daily and the number of men at work is steadily increasing. The miners' officials will not give up the fight, however, and several meetings were held yesterday throughout the district for the purpose of trying to bring out those who are at work.

Will Stand the Reduction.

POMEROY, O., May 10.—The miners strike in this district is practically ended. The miners at several mines have concluded to stand the reduction of 1/4 cent a bushel and have gone to work at the 1 1/2-cent rate. It is believed that all the mines will resume next week. By reason of poor work last year the miners are not in a financial condition to maintain a prolonged struggle.

Riot Threatened.

PERRY, O. T., May 10.—Assistant United States Attorney Hoffman, who has just returned from Washita county, reports that at the trial of Jeff Williams for the murder of Bob Moore the court-house has been crowded with armed men and a riot is feared. George East, a leader in the county, declares that Williams shall suffer for the murder, while Williams' friends are determined he shall not be punished.

Wages Increased at Tubeworks.

PITTSBURG, May 10.—The action of the National tubeworks of McKeesport in granting their 4,000 employees an increase of 10 percent in wages is regarded as very significant in manufacturing circles here. The National tubeworks is the largest pipe mill in the world and as a result of the increase in wages a material advance in the price of pipe is expected soon.

Race Proceeds for Charity.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 10.—This was a big day at the races. All the proceeds went to the Children's hospital fund and one of the largest crowds of the meeting turned out. Seven races were carded and the betting was fast and furious. Ed Purser won over $10,000 on Little Cripple, but dropped a good portion of it on Mutineer and Tillie S.

Continues Quiet at Flat Top.

ROANOKE, Va., May 10.—Dispatches from Pocahontas say that all is quiet in the Flat Top coal region. The night force of men employed by the Southwest company is slightly smaller than before and no Hungarians are at work. The day force is increasing but no new men have arrived to take the places of the striking miners.

Coatmakers Returning to Work.

BALTIMORE, May 10.—The 3,000 coatmakers who last week struck for more wages and better hours are gradually returning to work, and the strike will probably be called off within two days. The contractors agreed to the strikers' demands and the wholesalers are advancing prices paid to the former from 10 to 30 per cent.

Nonunion Hodcarriers Put to Work.

ST. LOUIS, May 10.—Fifty nonunion hodcarriers were put to work yesterday. The bosses are more determined than ever that they will not grant the demanded increase of wages. BIG ROW IN A VILLAGE

Two Prominent Families Get Involved in a Promiscuous Encounter.

NO ONE SERIOUSLY INJURED.

They Arm Themselves With Various Weapons and Have a Pitched Battle. Justices' Courts Grinding Out Cases Growing Out of the Fight—Movement to Break Down Fee and Salary Law.

LOGANSPORT, Ind., May 10.—Gordon, a small settlement six miles west of here, is aflame with excitement over an encounter between two of its most prominent families. The principals involved are William Gillespie, the postmaster, and Newton Kistler, the village merchant, together with their wives and children. The trouble, which has been brewing for some time, came to a focus last Sunday evening, when Mrs. Gillespie went home and informed her husband that one of the Kistler boys had insulted her. Mr. Gillespie, with repaired to the scene of the alleged indignity, armed with a butcherknife, and was there met by the Kistlers, also variously armed. A pitched battle ensued, but no one was seriously hurt. Since then the matter has been fought in the justices' courts. Four affidavits for provoke have thus far resulted, three for assault and battery and two for malicious trespass. Kistler also threatens a suit for slander, while Gillespie proposes to counter with something equally as strong. Two justices' courts have been engaged the greater part of the week hearing and disposing of the cases.

FREE AND SALARY LAW.

Movement by County Officers to Test Its Constitutionality.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 10.—There is a movement on foot to unite all the county officers in the state in an effort to have the fee and salary law passed by the last general assembly declared unconstitutional. This movement is entirely independent of the steps that are being taken by the treasurers and auditors to have section 126 of the act declared invalid. It is announced that the county officers will test the whole act on the ground that it is special legislation. They say that in declaring that the salaries of the officers of a certain county shall be a certain amount, the act becomes special.

If the supreme court should declare the act invalid the state would be without a law fixing compensation for state and county officers, and the governor, it is said, would be compelled to call a special session of the legislature.

When these are connected the Indiana gas belt will be a network of electric railways.

BRAZIL, Ind., May 10.—A desperate fight is reported to have occurred at Carbon, this county, in which several persons were involved. A man named Neal was cut, receiving seven wounds on the head and face. His injuries may prove fatal. The town marshal was also seriously beaten up, when he endeavored to quiet the trouble.

RACING OVER AT ROBY.

Judge Gillette Issues an Order Closing the Track.

ROBY, Ind., May 10.—Pursuant to the order closing the race track, issued by Judge Gillette on complaint of several merchants of Hammond, Sheriff Hayes of Lake county, Ind., served summons on the officials of the Roby Breeders' association yesterday. The sheriff appeared on the course before 1 o'clock and by mutual agreement with the officials it was decided to let three events be run, but that no bets be sold on the races. The injunction sets forth that the above named defendants have violated the law of the state of Indiana regarding horse racing and the court temporarily restrains the defendants from continuing to so violate the said laws between the 15th day of November and the 15th day of April. They are also enjoined from holding races oftener than three times in a year and not to exceed 15 days. A period of 30 days is to elapse between the meets.

The management of the race track declares it will soon reopen. It believes that the Hawthorne people are behind the movement which compelled the shutdown.

APPLE TREE LICE.

What the Purdue Agricultural Experiment Station Thinks.

This insect has appeared in such numbers in our apple orchards as to attract attention all over the state. Inquiries were received during the winter concerning the eggs which were found in abundance on the branches. Since the warm weather began these inquiries have become very numerous. The little shiny black eggs, mentioned above, are deposited by the female louse on the twigs and smaller branches of the apple trees in the autumn. When the buds expand in the spring, these eggs hatch into small light green lice, which immediately insert their tiny beaks into the tender leaves and commence sucking their juices. The broods hatched at this time are all females, which mature sufficiently in ten or twelve days to enable them to begin the process of reproduction, which, contrary to the general rule, they are able to do without the presence of the male, and the slow process of egg laying is avoided, as the young which are produced during the summer are hatched within the mother. The process of throwing off these summer broods continues until fall, when a brood of the males and females is produced, from which comes the stock of eggs for the next season's supply.

The kerosene emulsion is as effective as any substance which can be used as a remedy. This is made by dissolving one half pound of hard soap in one gallon of hot water, after which add one gallon of kerosene or coal oil and mix thoroughly, by forcing the mixture back into the same vessel by means of a spraying pump, until it becomes a thick creamy mass. Dilute this with ten times its bulk of water before applying it to the trees.

The Lafayette Courier Says.

The DePauw Quartette was greeted by a large and appreciative audience last night, giving the first musical entertainment of the May Festival now being held in the Ninth Street M. E. church. The audience was greatly pleased with the work of the young men and showed evidence of the enjoyment which generally displays itself before the work of a male quartette. The DePauw Quartette is now one of the leading organizations of the state and deserves the recognition it has received. The work of the singers is excellent, and while far from perfect in several selections where real artistic work is necessary, they certainly have the faculty of making music as people like to hear it. Mr. Paris, second tenor, was the most artistic soloist, and Mr. Starr, first basso, has an excellent voice and style. Mr. Burlingame, the heavy basso, is possessed of a fine voice and uses it to the best advantage. Mr. Gilbert, the first tenor, has a good voice that will, with cultivation, become almost unapproachable in this part of the country. The piano playing of Prof. Walter Howe Jones was pleasant, his selections being easy movements, full of that style which meets the approval of the average auditor, who listens not always from a transcendently artistic standpoint. As a whole, the concert gave the greatest satisfaction, and the DePauw Quartette will always be gladly welcomed to this city by musicians and the people who only know the value and beauty of music.

Yours truly,
L. L. HENSON.

When I'm Dead.

If the world should be so unfortunate as to lose me, I intend to have it understood before I go that the eight lodges to which I belong shall not publish resolutions in "each of the city papers" nor "furnish a copy" to the "bereaved family," informing the public and my loved ones two weeks after the funeral that it has "pleased" the all wise ruler of the universe to interfere with my terrestrial career, that I have in fact been "removed from our midst." And my grief stricken relatives will confer on me a great favor by not having the newspapers print a "card of thanks" signed by the members of the family and addressed to the "kind neighbors and friends, who so generously assisted us, and sympathized with us in the recent" unpleasantness. Of course, these customs were launched into us by the best and kindest motives, but the fifty or more years' hardships to which they have been subjected have reduced them to cold stereotyped formalities, meaningless and useless.—Ex.

The Weather.

District School of Methods.

The District School of Methods met at Hadley May 2 and 3. While the representation was not large from other counties, it was very enthusiastic. School was called to order by Mary Hadley, superintendent of state. After the devotional exercises, and welcome address by Rev. Sarah Hadley, the superintendent proceeded to explain the object of the school.

The afternoon session was opened with a scripture reading by Mrs. Whitson, after which presentation of Organizer by Miss Lenore Ayres was heard, calling attention to the fact, that unless the ladies came to the rescue of the state paper, it would be published bi-monthly. A club of twelve was secured.

Mrs. Hensaw led the discussion of "Opening Doors." Many suggestions were made for opening doors that seemed closed against W. C. T. U. workers' the Nicholson bill, when becomes a law, was thought to be an open door, and many more were mentioned by the school.

Miss Ayres conducted parliamentary drill, and explained the way to work in business meetings.

The "Influence of Girls" was presented by Mrs. Leome Hadley. The young girls were asked to discuss this topic. The thoughts brought out were: Girls should have a standard for right and wrong; there should be equal and absolute standard for the sex; and girls should strive to have an influence over one another. The school was asked to give in writing the objective point of the W. C. T. U. work.

Thursday evening after devotional exercises conducted by Mrs. Grace Hays, Mrs. Balch, state superintendent of medal contests, addressed the audience on "The Work of Reform." The subject was handled in an earnest manner, and commanded the attention and approval of her hearers.

On Friday after the scripture lesson by Susiana Hadley, superintendent of temperance literature, spoke for a short time. She urged the unions to take such papers as the Organizer and Union Signal, as they give the true gospel throughout.

The subject of "Tobacco, Rum's Ally" was introduced by Mrs. McWhirter. She believes cigarette smoking is on the decrease. The afternoon was given up to the discussion of topics most interesting to the school. "Why I am a member of the W. C. T. U." presented by Hendricks county president, a prominent member of the school, who spoke freely on this topic. Mrs. McWhirter talked on "Finances," and Mrs. Whitson on "The Outlook of the Hadley Industrial School for Girls." After a farewell prayer, the school closed feeling that the time had been spent profitably and pleasantly. x x x.

Violin Pupils and Miss Rutledge.

The last two recitals, that of the violin pupils on Wednesday evening and of Miss Rutledge yesterday afternoon were occasions of interest and genuine merit. The violin department has been making fine progress during the year and delighted the audience with the evidences of talent and industry. The performers did great credit not only to themselves but also their teacher and to the school.

Yesterday afternoon Miss Rutledge, assisted by Miss Osborn, Prof. Schell-schmidt and Mr. Bolinger gave a very enjoyable program at 4 o'clock. A good audience was present and all were delighted with the exercises of the hour. It was the first time Miss Rutledge has been heard in public except in single numbers, and the audience was hardly prepared for such clear playing and good interpretation as she gave them. The Haydn trio with Miss Rutledge at the pianoforte, Mr. Bolinger with the violin and Mr. Schell-schmidt himself with the cello was a fine success, as were also the piano and cello sonatas. The piano duo, too, in which Miss Kent assisted, was brilliant and well rendered. The Schumann group Miss Rutledge presented with real delicacy and spirit.

Miss Eva Osborn sang beautifully a Luchstone number. It is always interesting to hear her and to see the progress she is making in voice development.

Mrs. J. P. Bell, Ossaatomic, Kan., wife of the editor of The Graphic, the leading local paper of Miami county, writes "I was troubled with heart disease for six years, severe palpitations, shortness of breath, together with such extreme nervousness, that, at times I would walk the floor nearly all night. We consulted the best medical talent. They said there was no help for me, that I had organic disease of the heart for which there was no remedy. I had read your advertisement in The Graphic and a year ago, as a last resort, tried one bottle of Dr. Miles' New Cure for the Heart, which convinced me that there was true merit in it. I took three bottles each of the Heart Cure and Restorative Nervine and it completely cured me. I sleep well at night, my heart beats regularly and I have no more smothering spells. I wish to say to all who are suffering as I did; there's relief untold for them if they will only give your remedies just one trial."

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold on a positive guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. All druggists sell it at $1.00 bottles for $5.00 or it will be sent prepaid on receipt of price by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

The Beauty
Of Some Pianos

Is only "case deep." It is much easier to make a handsome case than it is to put music into it. A tolerable mechanic can do the one—the other requires the best thought of the musical artist.

The Wegman Pianos

All have handsome, tasteful, durable cases; but in their factory constant, careful, studious attention is given to the production of a perfect and lasting tone. The beauty and honesty of the Wegman begins with the varnish on the case and goes straight through to the iron plate that holds the strings. We'd like to show you the inside of a Wegman piano.

WORN AT THE ALTAR.

OLIVE HARPER DESCRIBES SOME NEW WEDDING GOWNS.

One of Thick Green Bengaline—Another of White Crystallite—Picture Costume For a Young Girl—New Idea For Waists. New Designs For Jewelry.

[Special Correspondence.]
NEW YORK. If all the world loves a lover, all the world loves a bride as well, and men and women alike will crane their necks to see a fair young girl step from her carriage and enter the church door. I might—and indeed feel tempted to—go on and moralize, but perhaps it would come more within my province to describe the latest in wedding gowns. Since Easter there has been a succession of weddings, and the march will be heard from now on until the end of June.

The latest and most elegant wedding dress was made of thick cream bengaline with a plain front to the skirt and a long train lined with numbers of pinked out flounces of cream taffeta. On the left side of the front of the skirt is a spray of orange blossoms and leaves, growing smaller as it mounts, until it ends in one waxy bud. The waist is of alternate platings of bengaline and white lace, with a pointed belt. The yoke is made of one splendid piece of brussels point, and set across the bust are four close bunches of orange buds without leaves or full blown flowers. The sleeves are flattened gigots, reaching to the wrists. Around the neck there is a smooth collar of bengaline, with a puffing of crepe lisse at the top. The tulle veil reaches only to the knees and is gathered closely at the top of the head under a bouquet of orange buds. The veil in this instance consists of three yards of tulle, which is about 54 inches wide, and the selvedge edge falls at the bottom unhemmed, and the front portions are cut by the thread and also left unhemmed, which gives it a more ethereal appearance.

There was a picture costume for a young girl which would be quite suitable for a bridesmaid. The skirt was plain mouse colored armure crepon. There were a vest and collar of white satin and a cutaway jacket of royal faience blue velvet, or reps silk, with very wide revers and collar faced with the satin. There are turn back cuffs of white satin. All the edges of this satin are piped and neatly stitched. The back of the jacket is made very full and the front cut away in historic fashion.

I had a glimpse at some of the newest designs in jewelry, and they are very beautiful, though for the most part leaning toward the antique. There was a cluster ring where there was one large stone surrounded by 12 smaller ones, all set in a silver filigree arrangement. There was a marquise ring with five large stones in the center surrounded by smaller ones. The central line was of emeralds and the rest of white diamonds alternately large and small, to fit between the emeralds. The ring was 1 1/2 inches long. The ring itself was smooth and rounded. Another ring was a single flat band on the inside, and this was split on the upper side, making two rings apparently, one having an emerald and two diamonds, the other three fine diamonds. Arrows for the hair have large cluster pins of Flemish diamonds set in the center. A half moon five inches from point to point is set with a line of fine stones. In the center is a circle of gold, on which are set eight stars of blue enamel, each having a white diamond in the center. This is for either corsage or hair. There was a loopein with a crescent of diamonds in the center, flanked by two fine diamonds as large as peas and with another inside the crescent like a star. At the ends of the bar there were clusters of three smaller diamonds, making 18 diamonds in all.

LETTER FROM NEW ORLEANS.

Observations and Reflections by an Uncommercial Traveler.
[Special Correspondence.]

NEW ORLEANS. "I am not a lazy man by any manner of means, and in my heart I believe that severe toil is the grandest and most glorious invention that man has been guilty of, but when I see a gang of negro roustabouts going through their little act of unloading freight from a Mississippi steamboat I am apt to think that toil—at least of this caliber—is neither grand nor glorious and most assuredly has no dignity about it. The poet, philosopher or whoever the mischief he was who was guilty of the perpetration of that aphorism which says that there is a dignity in labor ought to try his hand at shoveling coal or sand for ten hours a day or take a turn with the negroes in unloading freight on to the levee. I'd like to see the pangueric he'd write about labor after a week of it.

Do you know it struck me yesterday, as I was watching the men at their horrible, man killing work, with my hands comfortably stuck in my pockets and a large cigar in my mouth, that the famous authorities on economics who write such big, unreadable books concerning the relation that is supposed to exist between capital and labor ought to take—as the most vital part of the equipment necessary for their work—a course in the earning of their own living by hard labor before they commenced to spoil good paper by writing upon it concerning a subject of which they practically and actually knew nothing.

But this is the point. I must tell you of what I saw. I was standing on the levee in Algiers smoking the afore-said large cigar and thinking how nicely things were going with me generally when I saw a steamboat approaching from up the river. In a jiffy she was alongside the levee, her gangplank was thrown out, and the roustabouts were scooting off the freight for dear life. Scooting is the only word that describes it. I never saw anything in the toil line to equal it. Boxes and bales and barrels seemed to move of themselves. A man would pick up something that ordinarily ought to take three or four men to lift and by some means or another hustle it ashore.

From Algiers you can look away over the Mississippi and see the spires and columns of New Orleans. They seem to rise from out a great, calm flow of water. For a moment you feel that they tell of a city that is submerged. The land hereabout is lower than the level of the river, and the people have to fight its encroachings by the building of levees, or dikes, as they would call them in Holland. It is a strange river, this Mississippi. Beneath its calm is a ferocious restlessness. Ever is it changing its channel; ever is it seeking a new way to lay waste the land. The people of New Orleans fear it, and there is a belief among them that some day it will sweep themselves and their city to utter destruction.

Once I saw it roaring and seething through a crevasse it had burst in the levee some miles below New Orleans. It had thrown off its mask of calm and was thundering out over southern Louisiana. The crevasse was three-quarters of a mile wide, and in a few days steamers were able to sail overland to points 200 miles away from the river's usual course. The roads were thronged with people who were flying for their lives to the higher land, laden with what little belongings they could easily carry. During this time I had an odd adventure. I had come on a steamer through the crevasse from New Orleans to a place called Bayou Sale, where I was staying on a plantation with a friend of mine. The plantation was on high ground and so had escaped the surrounding inundation. I believe it was either on the day or the day after my arrival there that I set out for a walk, with the idea in my head of generally noting the damage the river had done. It was rather late in the afternoon, and my friend warned me to be sure to get back before sundown, as the water was rising quickly all the time, and it was well to look out. I walked on for an hour or so, not thinking much of what he had said, till suddenly I noticed it getting dark. Then I turned back and hurried along the road as fast as I could, but whether it was that I missed my way or not I don't know to this day. All that I know is that when I turned round a bend of the road I found my way barred by a great stretch of water. Surely this was the way I came, I thought. The water must have risen and covered it in my absence! I didn't stop long to consider, however, but got back along the road, only to find myself barred again by another stretch of water. Things were getting serious. I looked around me and could see nothing but great black shadows of cypress trees reflecting in calm black water that I knew was stretching over and swallowing up everything. A hideous fear seized me, and a sweat broke out all over me. My nerve was gone utterly. These frightful shadows had affected my imagination. Shadows in water have always produced in me a strange sort of fear. I would have to die here, I thought. I would be isolated and slowly drowned! By this time it was dark, and I stood thinking and shivering when I heard the bark of a dog. At once the fit of cowardice left me, and I was a man again. The bark came from away off on my right. Going in that direction, which brought me right straight off the road and over what seemed to be the furrows of a sugar cane field, I saw a light, and in a moment or so I was knocking on the door of a hut. A negress opened it, with a lamp in her hand. Behind her stood two negroes. One of them held a pistol full at my head; the other was holding two big, fierce looking dogs that were straining and tugging to get at me. However, they let me in after a short parley. They had to be cautious, they said, because of robbers. They fed me on corn bread and bacon and coffee, and the next day one of them piloted me to my friend's plantation.

Highwaymen Captured.

LAKE PORT, Cal., May 10.—The brace of highwaymen who held up the stage between Calistoga and Mirabel mine on Tuesday afternoon were captured yesterday in Berryson valley. When ordered to throw up their hands the taller of the two resisted and attempted to shoot himself. The officers shot and wounded him, when both gave themselves up. All the jewelry and most of the money taken from the stage was recovered. One of the robbers is Buck English, an ex-convict.
Overcome by Foul Air.
JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., May 9.—Fifteen workmen, employes in the Greens cement quarries at Cementville, are lying in a critical condition as a result of breathing the gas generated by blasting in the quarry. The quarry is fully 300 yards deep, stretching underground backward from the edge of the pond. The entrance to the cavity is just large enough to admit the workmen one by one. The foul air could not escape as fast as generated.

Cuban Uprising About Over.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Official information reaching here indicates that the Spanish authorities no longer regard the Cuban uprising as a serious affair. It is not considered that the trouble is actually closed and the rebellion formally ended, but the authorities are satisfied that the revolt has ceased to have the menacing aspect of a few weeks ago. The rebel armies have been reduced to a few scattering bands who are in hiding.

Signs the Racing Bills.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 10.—The governor has signed the Gray racing bill, the two Wilde bills, forbidding pool selling or gambling of any sort, and the supplemental bill, fixing a tax of 5 per cent on the gross receipts of racing associations.

Brickworks Destroyed.

EGG HARBOR CITY, N. J., May 10.—The Winslow brickworks were destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon. Loss estimated at $100,000, fully covered by insurance. Over 200 workmen will be thrown out of employment.
